For the longest time, and ever since Francisca was still alive, the understanding between them is that Francisca is merely acting as an administrator of the said property, among all other properties. The shock and sense of betrayal therefore which Plaintiff felt when he was suddenly being driven out of his home was beyond comprehension.
  - 12. Francisca became the administrator of the said property, among other properties, because at the time, she was among the family member who was economically comfortable. Hence, when Plaintiff was orphaned, he stayed with Francisca as her ward, administering not only his care but as well as the care of the properties left to him by his wak deceased parents. This because the arrangement until Plaintiff reached a majority age and was able to independently live on his own. This was the same arrangement as with the other relatives who Francisca would help and support, especially during their school-age years.

- 16. Francisca is with full knowledge that Plaintiff was the rightful owner of the subject property and he was deprived thereof because of the execution of the void Partition Agreement. Despite this, she willingly participated in the Partition Agreement and subsequently applied the subject property for administrative titling. She not only misrepresented the nature of her occupation for the said property, but fraudulently caused the same to be registered in her name.
- year prescriptive period provided in the Public Land Act does not bar the State from asking the reversion of the property through such means. Verily, such fraud is a ground for impugning the validity of the Certificate of Title. The invalidity of the patent is sufficient basis for nullifying the Certificate of Title issued in consequence thereof, since the latter is merely evidence of the former.
- 18. In the instant case, the cancellation of OCT No. P-25723 is in order considering the fraudulent manner with which the free patent from which it precedes was secured. Moreover, the indefeasibility of title does not apply in the instant case, as aptly discussed by the Supreme Court in the case of Republic v Heirs of Alejaga Sr., viz:

"True, once a patent is registered and the corresponding certificate of title issued, the land covered by them ceases to be part of the public domain and becomes private property. Further, the Torrens Title issued pursuant to the patent Honorable Court that after hearing, a judgment be rendered: becomes indefeasible a year after the issuance of System does not by itself vest title; it merely confirms the registrant's already existing one. Verily, registration under the Torrens System is not a mode of acquiring ownership.

-Recovery of Possession-

By virtue of the foregoing premises, possession and subsequent titling of the subject property has 01 April 2024, Polangui, Albay. been erroneously held and registered in the name of Francisca, who after her death had been succeeded by herein defendant heirs.
